The screenshot shows the San Francisco SF311 website. The top navigation bar includes links for SFGOV, Residents, Business, Government, Visitors, OnlineServices, and Help. The main header features the 311 logo and the text "San Francisco 24x7 Customer Service Center". A search bar is located on the right side of the header. Below the header is a secondary navigation bar with links for Home, Search for Information, Request Service, Track Service Request, About 311, Contact Us, and Related Links. The main content area is titled "Why Share Your Facebook Profile with SF311?" and includes a section for "Sharing basic information in your Facebook profile" and a "Facebook Login" section. A red callout bubble points to the "Cancel" button in the login section, stating: "If you have a Facebook account but are not logged in (or if you don't have a Facebook account) you can 'Cancel' and use the application anonymously." The left sidebar contains a "SHARE" button, a language selection dropdown, and a list of links including "Customer Satisfaction Survey", "Mobile SF311 App", "Online", "Twitter", "Facebook", "Open311 Applications", and "Phone". At the bottom of the sidebar, there is contact information for assistance and a link to "Provide feedback to SF311".

What is OpenAustin?

Open Austin was formed by citizens interested in the City of Austin web strategy and approach. Through a series of conversations, common ground was developed between the City and Open Austin to work together in a formal and recurring way. The goal is to develop new capacities for the City of Austin website while reducing or eliminating costs.

A strategic alliance document has been created by Open Austin and the City represents the expectations and the basis for the working relationship. In order to advance this partnership relationship, the City and OpenAustin will partner, innovate and improve.

What would you like to see/use/have access to on the new City of Austin website?

I suggest you...

Big Apps Ideas

FOLLOW 612

New York City challenged the public to share ideas for apps for residents, businesses, and visitors.

Congratulations, winners! And thanks to everyone who voted and participated! We hope these ideas will help fuel the NYC BigApps 3.0 challenge launching later this year.

Iceland crowdsourcing its New Constitution 2013 March closed

The screenshot shows the Good.is website interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "Search good.is" and a magnifying glass icon. Below the search bar, the word "GOOD" is prominently displayed in a large, bold, black font, followed by "POLITICS" in a smaller, bold, black font. To the right of the "GOOD" logo, there are social media icons for Facebook, Twitter, and Tumblr, along with a blue "JOIN" button. Below these icons, the text "GET GOOD" is visible, followed by "Join Sign In" and a Facebook "Connect" button. A navigation menu below the header includes "NEWS & FEATURES", "INFOGRAPHICS", "SLIDESHOWS", "VIDEOS", "PROJECTS", "CONTRIBUTORS", "THE MAGAZINE", and "RANDOM GOOD".

On the left side of the page, there is a vertical navigation menu with categories: ACTION, BUSINESS, CITIES, CULTURE, DESIGN, EDUCATION, ENVIRONMENT, FOOD, HEALTH, MEDIA, POLITICS (highlighted), TECHNOLOGY, and TRANSPORTATION. Below the menu, there is a "SHARE THIS" section with Facebook and Twitter icons and their respective share counts: 902 for Facebook and 953 for Twitter. A small image of Andrew Price, the web editor, is also present.

The main article is titled "Iceland Is Crowdsourcing Its New Constitution" and is dated June 10, 2011, at 2:20 pm PDT. It has 785 responses and 3K comments. The article features a large photograph of a historic stone building in Iceland, with a large red "closed" watermark overlaid on the image. Below the photo, the text reads: "Vikings. They're the vanguard of 21st-century democracy."

On the right side of the page, there is a "POPULAR" section with a list of five items:

- 1 Slideshow: Aftermath Photos Prove Irene Was No Laughing Matter
- 2 Library's "Living Books" Program Will Loan Human Experts
- 3 The Danger of Making College Too Career-Focused
- 4 People Are Awesome: This Superintendent Took an $800,000 Pay Cut to Offset Budget Cuts
- 5 Infographic: 10 Ways to Stop Wasting Water

At the bottom right, there is a small advertisement for Levi's with the text "Levi's GO FORTH" and a background image of fireworks.
